HEAT DEATH TOLL IN COUNTRY REACHES 21
100 PERSONS HURT IN TRAIN WRECK

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

Today is Sunday. And judging from yesterday's weather it is going to be a pleasant day.

There are enough sporting events planned for today to satisfy the Richmond fans.

One big event in Richmond, which should draw a large crowd is the outboard motor boat races at the inner harbor.

This is the first time that these races have been held in Richmond.

More than a hundred drivers are expected to enter their light crafts in the events.

More than $300 in prizes are to be awarded to the winners.

And the baseball fans have their choice of games. They may either go to Oakland or San Francisco.

And then there are always motor races. But these cease to be sport any more—they are hard work.

Germany has fallen in line with the rest of Europe. She has a dictator too.

President Paul Von Hindenburg has been named "temporary dictator" for a period of 60 days.

The main question is whether or not Hindenburg will hold that post for just 60 days or for life.

When a history of Germany is written in the next century, Hindenburg will be rated as one of the leading men of Germany.

Hindenburg was in retirement at his country home at the outbreak of the war.

In the west the German troops were pushing forward, throwing the French, British, and Belgians back.

But on the eastern front the German fortunes were not faring so well.

Russia had pushed back the German army and was invading Prussia.

Hindenburg, in response to an appeal, came forward, took charge of the German army on the eastern front and hurled the Russians back.

After serving his Kaiser through four years of conflict, Hindenburg brought back his defeated army into a country that Red riots had thrown into a turmoil.

And when order was restored and the republic was established, the former general of the Imperial armies became the president of the republic.

Fear was expressed at first that Germany would be a monarchy again.

But Hindenburg has kept it a republic—in name. The Imperial family will never return.

It is odd that a staunch monarchist and a member of the military machine of Germany may be a firm republican.

Speaking of dictators, one wonders what will happen when Mussolini dies. Italians shudder to think of it.

Which reminds us that Seldes said of Mussolini:

"Italy gained a dictator and the stage lost its best actor."

MACDONALD NEARS STATE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—UP—Feeling that it is precarious to gamble on his health, friends of Tom Mooney and Warren Billings worked frantically tonight in the effort to arrange early hearings for John MacDonald, who hopes to prove that he was a liar and deliver Mooney and Billings from prison.

Mooney, at San Quentin, Billings at Folsom, the two men have been imprisoned for 13 and 14 years, respectively, for alleged complicity in the Preparedness Day bombing of 1916 in San Francisco in which ten persons lost their lives.

Disturbing reports were arriving from the party accompanying MacDonald, that he seemed very tired and weak from the strain of his journey and the weight of conscience.

Definite plans for hearing MacDonald were made today.

STOLEN CAR IN WRECK

Police are today searching for the driver of a stolen automobile which last night collided with a machine driven by John Borna of Oakland, at Tenth street and Cutting boulevard.

According to Borna's story to police, the driver, who was accompanied by a young woman, failed to stop at a boulevard sign and drove in front of his car at a high rate of speed.

The stolen automobile, which was found to be the property of E. J. Royce, 326 Beck street, Richmond, was overturned and badly damaged.

The driver asked Borna to walk up the street with him to see the owner of the car.

Upon reaching the viaduct at Twenty-third street and Bowland avenue the unidentified man asked Borna for a match. When Borna reached in his pocket for the match, he was struck in the face and knocked to the ground.

When Borna recovered, the couple had disappeared, he told police.

BLAZE HITS WRECKAGE OF CARS

ELIZABETH, N. J., July 19.—UP—A Pennsylvania express train speeding from Pennsylvania to New York was involved in a strange crash tonight which sent three coaches into a street 30 feet below the track.

Police estimated that more than 100 persons were injured, 30 victims many of them hurt seriously, were treated at Elizabeth hospital alone, and many were taken to two other hospitals. There were no reports of deaths.

The train, making good speed, since its schedule did not call for a halt here was reported to have hit an automobile which was driven on the tracks at a blind street which the motorist evidently mistook for a crossing.

The driver was reported to have jumped before the train came hurtling along. His car was badly damaged.

Ambulances, hurriedly called, joined in carrying the injured to the hospitals. Firemen arrived in time to see the engine explode and spread fire over the wreckage.

CONDEMNED MAN ENDS LIFE AT SAN QUENTIN PRISON

SAN QUENTIN, July 19.—UP—With the last legal avenue closed, William "Red" O'Brien, condemned murderer chose suicide as a means of making good his boast that "take it from me, I'll never die on the gallows."

The body of O'Brien was found this morning when a guard carried his breakfast to his cell in death row. "Red" had taken poison during the night.

Warden James B. Hollahan started an investigation in the hope of learning how O'Brien managed to obtain the death poison which permitted him to take his own life just one week before the state was to hang him.

It is thought O'Brien died during the night as the body was cold when found. He was to have followed two comrades in banditry to the gallows next Friday, July 25.

George Costello and Louis Lazarus, who aided O'Brien in holding up an Oakland bank during which William McFarland, teller, was killed, were executed several months ago.

O'Brien, by appealing to the supreme court, obtained a stay of execution but recently the court denied his plea and it was then that O'Brien boasted that he would never die on the gallows.

So by means, as yet unknown, "Red" O'Brien, known as a vicious criminal, had poison smuggled to his compartment in the closely guarded death row so that he could commit suicide, thus sparing his daughter the pain in after years of learning that her father was executed.

Eighty-nine men have perished while working on San Francisco's elaborate municipal water expansion program in the last 16 years.

LOCAL LEGION NINE BEATEN BY BERKELEY

Largely because of their inability to get going in the first three innings, the Richmond American Legion boys went down to a 15 to 10 defeat before the Berkeley Legion nine yesterday afternoon in the first of a two-out-of-three game series for the eastbay American Legion championship.

After the third inning, the Richmond youngsters showed all their accustomed prowess at hitting and fielding, but it was then too late to correct matters. Richmond had hard luck in the seventh when they were unable to score with three men bugging the bases.

Berkeley piled up a total of 12 runs in the first three periods, but there they were suddenly brought to a halt and were forced onto the defensive during the remainder of the game. Richmond's sluggers collected a total of 13 hits.

The local hitters did nicely after they finally found their stride. Freddy De Corten swatted out a four bagger, while Collins also did well with the hickory club, earning four singles.

Lemon did excellent work on the mound for Richmond outside of the three fatal innings. He struck out 12 Berkeleyans, and was nipped for 16 hits.

Stevens, on the mound for Berkeley, did fair work, allowing 13 hits and whiffing four local boys.

Chris Santaela caught his best game of the season for Richmond yesterday, working well with Lemon.

Fleming did the receiving for the victors.

The fielders of both outfits had a hard time of it yesterday. Nine errors were committed by Berkeley, while the Richmond athletes were guilty of seven mistakes.

Humphrey, second sacker for Richmond, was forced out of the game in the second inning due to a badly sprained ankle.

The second game of the series for the eastbay championship will be played this afternoon at Lincoln park in Alameda at 12:00 o'clock.

The members of the Richmond nine will gather at 9:30 o'clock at the Memorial hall to leave for Alameda. It is requested by officials of the team and American Legion that as many Legionnaires and other Richmond residents owning cars as possible be present at the Memorial hall at that time to offer transportation for the team.

Penn Passoni, lanky six footer, will do the twirling for Richmond with Crocker receiving today.

The hits earned by the Richmond athletes yesterday were as follows: Moltoza, 3 b 2; Collins, 4; Outman, ss 1; Scarcella 1b 4; Humphrey, 2b 0; White, 2b 0; De Corten, 1b 2; Glover, cf 1; Santaela, c 2 and Lemon, p 2.

Cubs Beat Robins In Final Game

As a result, the Cubs advanced to within four points of the league leading Robins. DeBerry made his costly error after Phelps had replaced Vance on the slab. In the eighth the Reds batted Osborn off the mound with a three run rally, but it fell one short of tying the game.

Herman hit a home run in the first inning and in the sixth Wilson knocked out his 26th circuit wallow after English had tripled to give the Cubs the lead.

PARIS, July 19.—UP—The United States defeated Italy in the Davis Cup interzone final today and thus gained the challenge round in which France will defend the historic tennis trophy.

The challenger was determined when Wilmer Allison of Austin, Texas, and George Van Ryn, of East Orange, N. J., won the lone doubles match of the interzone final over Baron Humbert de Morpurgo and Placido Gaslini. Scores 6-7, 6-2, 6-4, 1-6, 6-3.

Earlier, the United States had won two singles matches. Allison defeated Giorgio DeStefani 4-6, 7-9, 6-4, 8-6, 10-8. George Lott of Chicago defeated Baron de Morpurgo 3-6, 9-7, 10-8, 6-3.

While the United States already has secured the interzone final, the two remaining singles matches will be played. They will be held Sunday, with the matching reversed, that is, Allison will play de Morpurgo and Lott will meet de Stefani.

Despite the fact that Italy was put out in straight sets Baron de Morpurgo and his playing mates were far from having been routed by the Russian American Group.

Allison had the most uphill sort of battle, just as the scores indicate, to score the opening victory. Lott scored a four set victory, but was forced into extra games in two of them. The deciding sets were played today, after a half, because of darkness last night.

Most of the thrill of the interzone play was crowded into the doubles match.

There was a drama supplied by de Morpurgo when he rushed in at a substitute for Alberto del Bono. The baron decided to take this burden after his defeat in the singles. It was believed and rightly, probably, that Italy's chances to keep the competition alive would be brighter with de Morpurgo than with del Bono.

The United States team led by two sets to one when intermission was taken in the doubles play. The Italians returned with a vim and put Allison and Van Ryn to utter rout, winning the fourth set, 6-1.

The fifth set, however, saw a return to form on the part of the young Americans, while de Morpurgo evidenced the strain under which he had been playing.

Two de Morpurgo's might have scored an Italian doubles win, but the baron could gain but the most scant support from Gaslini, who netted the ball time and again.

The United States and France will thus play their sixth consecutive final Davis cup contest.

France gained the challenge round for the first time since 1925 and was defeated by the United States that year as well as in 1926.

France defeated the United States in the finals of 1927, 1928 and 1929.

The citations which comprise the Lesson-sermon will include the following from the Bible: "How excellent is thy loving kindness, O God! Therefore the children of men put their trust under the shadow of thy wings. For with thee is the fountain of life: in thy light shall we see light." (Ps. 36:7, 9)

The lesson sermon also will include the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "God is alive Life, and Life is no mere confined to the forms which reflect it than substance is in his shadow. If life were in mortal man or material things, it would be subject to their limitations and would end in death. Life is mind, the creator reflected in His creations." (p. 331.)

HETCH HETCHY SECOND NORRIS PLAN COST 89 LIVES IN ELECTION RULED OUT

Thursday when an explosion rocked the Mitchell tunnel of the Hetch Hetchy water project, killing 12 men. A leak in a lamp, or a spark from the wheels and rails of a dump cart system is thought to have ignited natural gas which is abundant in the Livermore hills, 40 miles from here, where the tunnel is located.

On June 14, this year, an explosion occurred in a tunnel in the Calaveras project, near the Mitchell tunnel, and seven men died.

Pro-E Scen

It is likely that aroused public opinion will force an extensive investigation of the two major disasters this year. Already numerous organizations have interested themselves in the danger which threatens workers in the various tunnel projects, through which mountain water will flow from the Sierra highlands to San Francisco.

Charges that safety precautions were not taken are being investigated thoroughly by the San Francisco supervisors, the California Industrial Commission and the Federal government and it is probable that out of these probes will come a program designed to protect the "hard rock" men who drive huge tunnels beneath mountains so that San Francisco may have assurance of an adequate water supply.

It was in July 1914 that San Francisco started work on the Hetch Hetchy project, the major of the water department expansion scheme.

Dams Built

Dams were built, power plants constructed and tunnels bored so that melting snow water from the towering Sierra range could be harnessed for power development and the water then diverted through mains in the city distributing system.

It was an inspiring program, with gallons of water and units of power being recorded in numbers so large as to confuse the mind and defy the imagination. Eighty-five miles of tunnels have been bored and 70 miles of pressure pipe installed.

All units of the water project have been completed except tunnels through the coast range and it was in this unit that the death dealing explosions of June 14 and July 17 occurred.

Ends In 1932

All work on the water system is expected to be completed by 1932. At about the time of the explosion San Franciscans were warned that water levels in reservoirs were low and that water should be used with caution. This supported the theory that assurance for plenty of water in the years to come is needed but nevertheless, many San Franciscans, viewing with heavy hearts the loss of men in dam and tunnel work, wondered if it was worth the price.

21 PERSONS DIE IN EASTERN HEAT WAVE

of rain has fallen so far this summer and crops are beginning to curl. Temperatures ranged from 94 to 103 in the Hoosier state today. Exceptionally high humidity made the atmosphere oppressive along the eastern seaboard. New England, hardest hit in that area, reported sizzling temperatures and a dozen deaths.

Chicago Swelters
Chicago, which escaped last week's heat wave that took almost 150 lives, sweltered today. Breezes from Lake Michigan which usually keep the city cooler than surrounding territory were displaced by the hot southwest winds. Thousands hurried to the parks and beaches from the stifling apartments. Despite the heat only one death was reported in Chicago and one drowning.

From St. Louis and the southwest came reports of temperatures of 100 or more.

High Temperatures
In southern California clouds cut the high temperatures from the 100 mark and relief was felt from the six days of heat. Half a dozen or more cities reported temperatures of above 100 yesterday. At Brawley and El Centro in the Imperial valley the mercury reached 105 to 110; in Indio 106; San Bernardino, 102; Colton, 103; and Ontario, 103.

New Chryslers Make Debut

ADVANCED ENGINEERING making for Sensational performance and startling innovations in appearance are represented in the Chrysler Imperial Eight and the Chrysler Eight models which were recently announced. Upper right shows frontal area of new car, the interior of the car while the coupe of the eight series and the roadster of the same series are shown. Below is the Imperial Eight seven-passenger sedan.

FIRST EIGHTS TO BEAR NAME OF CHRYSLER NOW ON DISPLAY HERE

Walter P. Chrysler yesterday announced two lines of straight eight cylinder motor cars — the first eight-cylinder cars ever to bear the Chrysler name—and the proved products of months of engineering development.

In these new cars Chrysler engineers have directed every effort toward designing a car with perfect smoothness, perfect roadability, perfect handling, and a total absence of rocking or rolling thru lowered center of gravity, continental smartness, exquisite body appointments, synchronization of engine, of transmission and of brakes—in fact, a perfectly balanced and correlated piece of mechanism.

Outstanding mechanical features of both lines include the L-head type of straight eight engine with the famous Chrysler silver dome cylinder head; the four-speed transmission and gear shift; down-draft carburetion; automatic controlled radiator shutters; two-way hydraulic shock absorbers; four wheel internal expanding hydraulic brakes, completely enclosed; fuel pumps; four point rubber engine mountings; impulse neutralizers; the bondite rust proofing process on all enameled parts, and scores of other refinements. Nothing has been overlooked to give the owner better and more satisfying motor car transportation.

New Body
In appearance, neither car has a counterpart. One of the remarkable engineering accomplishments has been the development of the chassis and body design as a unit, employing a new type of reinforced double drop chassis frame and a welded all-steel body. Perfect correlation produces extreme lowness and increased headroom, with no sacrifice of road clearance.

Long graceful hoods covering the engine compartment narrow at the front and come to a point in a single vertical chromium bar at the center, creating an atmosphere of speed, power and grace. Bullet-shaped chromium headlamps and sweeping air-wing fenders add to the fleet lines of the low frontal area. The lamp tie rod is concealed behind the radiator shutters, adding to the clean-cut front appearance.

From the chromium cowl bars and lamps to the rear bumpers, the cars again depart from orthodox body design. Sloping windshields are parallel to the forward slant of the radiator front. On the Imperial eight, the windshield is in two panels. Door and window openings on all models are gracefully curved at the top. Wide molding of colors complementary to the body lacquers starts at the radiator front, crosses the cowl, and encircles the body of the car, tapering down the rear compartment of the coupe models. From front to rear bumper, there is a spirited contour about the cars that contributes to their symmetry and balance. Viewed from every angle, the cars present a distinctly individualistic design.

On the Chrysler eight, chromium heading tapers from the radiator cap around the front of the car, in beautiful contrast to the enameled surface of the radiator shell. Mounted on the radiator cap are the silver wings of Chrysler, drawn nearly straight back to denote speed and grace. Head lamps, cowl lamps, cowl bars, bumpers, door handles and all exterior hardware are chromium plated. Chromium plating is also used on the rims of the wire wheels and along the edge of the running boards.

All-Steel Bodies
All-steel bodies are introduced on every model of Chrysler eight the first time this type of construction has been offered on cars in this price class. The front end, cowl, sides and rear compartment are one-piece stampings flash welded and fused together to form a single body unit. Annoying rattles and squeaks are eliminated by perfectly fitting doors and windows. Doors are single steel stampings welded with bridge type of construction. Depressions and ribs stamped in the metal prevent rumbling and drumming.

Convenience and completeness are featured in the driver's compartment with seats adjustable for leg room. The steering column is also adjustable for three driving positions. On the instrument panel, arranged in separate single glass dials following air-craft style, are speedometer, electric fuel gauge, ammeter, oil pressure gauge, and engine temperature indicator. Below these separate gauges are carburetor choke and manifold heat control buttons. Spark control is entirely automatic. Theft lock ignition switch is above the steering column. The panel is illuminated by two hooded lamps. Gasoline throttle, head light control and horn button are mounted on top of the three-spoke steering wheel. Clutch, brake and foot-size accelerator pedals are covered with rubber to assist in easy operation. The windshield wipers are provided. Cowl ventilators on each side are operated by the foot.

The luxury of custom coach work is apparent in the interiors which are designed to provide maximum room and comfort for every passenger. All metal appointments are in matched silver design. Assist cords, vanity and smoking sets are standard equipment. Pillow-type upholstery and interior finish are broadcloth, the cushions being exceptionally wide and deep, and tilted at the correct angles for the maximum riding comfort. Genuine leather is used for upholstery in the open models.

Straight Eight Engines
The engine of the Chrysler eight incorporates the finest Chrysler features, developing 80 horsepower at 3400 R. P. M. It has a bore of 3 inches, a stroke of 4 1/4 inches and a displacement of 240.33 cubic inches. S. A. E. horsepower rating is 28.80. The compression ratio of 5.2 to 1 is standard, but optional compression ratio of 6.2 to 1 is available. The engine is mounted in rubber, and completely insulated from the frame. Exhaustive road tests have proved its unmatched performance under all operating conditions.

Five main bearings, having a total area of 59.4 square inches, support the statically and dynamically balanced crankshaft. The crankshaft, weighing 69 1/2 pounds is equipped with the exclusive Chrysler impulse neutralizer. Aluminum alloy pistons of the Is-therm strut type, have three compression rings and one oil control ring. Intake valves are of chrome nickel steel, and exhaust valves of silechrome steel.

The downdraft carburetor mounted above the engine, and exclusive Chrysler manifold produce an amazing gain in engine power and flexibility that make Chrysler cars outstanding in the six-cylinder field. As developed on eight-cylinder engines, it furnishes even greater advantages over the up-draft carburetion system by allowing the fuel mixture to flow downward into all cylinders. A fuel pump supplies the gasoline to the carburetor. The carburetor is also equipped with an acceleration pump to furnish fuel instantly under sudden acceleration.

Engine lubrication is by full force-feed to all main, connecting rod and camshaft bearings. The oil pump is the gear type. Engine accessories include oil filter, air cleaner, fuel strainer and crankcase ventilator. The V-type fan belt also drives the generator at the left side of the engine.

4 Speed Transmission
The four-speed transmission with multi-range gear shift, which was a proved feature in Chrysler sixes has one reverse and four forward speed ranges—heavy duty, starting, acceleration and driving. In the highest gear, high car speed, at slow engine speed for fast driving and economy are provided. The silent third gear is designed for heavy traffic and acceleration on steep grades or mountain driving. Shifting between these two higher speed ranges is accomplished by a flick of the control lever at any car speed, and insures the highest degree of operating flexibility.

Final drive gear ratios offered in the Chrysler eight are 4.1 to 1 in high or driving range; 5.67 to 1 in third or acceleration range; 10.18 to 1 in starting range; 14.87 to 1 in heavy duty range. Reverse range is 12.862 to 1.

Four-wheel Chrysler hydraulic brakes, internal—expanding in two-inch drums provide absolute safety at all times at the slightest touch of the foot pedal. The total braking area is 143.8 square inches. The parking brake, controlled by the hand lever, operates on a seven-inch drum at the rear of the transmission.

Ease of riding is assured by a total front and rear spring length of 90 3/8 inches on each side of the car, with eight leaves in each spring, all two inches wide. The semi-elliptic springs are mounted in rubber bushings of exclusive Chrysler design, and contributing further to their easy operation are two-way hydraulic shock absorbers. Six-ply balloon tires (5.50x18) are standard equipment. Wood wheels are furnished as standard equipment with wire wheels optional at slight extra charge.

Imperial Eight
Chrysler craftsmanship reaches its height in the Imperial eight, the successor to the Chrysler Imperial, long ranked with the finest top motor cars of the world. In this series, custom coach work is carried out in every model. Nothing has been left undone to make these cars the finest ever built by Chrysler.

Its low, rakish lines can be appreciated by the fact that its overall length from bumper to bumper is 210 3/4 inches with a road clearance of 8 5/16 inches and overall height of 68 inches. From its wide chromium plated radiator shell to the neatly concealed fuel tank, massive grace and simple elegance have been attained. Typical Chrysler color combinations are in harmony with all custom coach work. Two sloping windshields, mounted in chromium frames, are set at angles to meet at the center in V-shape. Not even an outside sun visor mars the sweeping body contour, as adjustable sun visors which swing down inside from the top, are provided for both occupants of the front seat.

Mounted on the radiator cap to typify the car's speed and fleetness is a graceful chromium-plated crest of the gazelle, the swiftest animal known to man. From this appropriate emblem, chromium heading mounted on the chromium radiator shell, circles the front of the radiator, to lend exclusive style and atmosphere.

Interiors present a new standard of luxury in motor car design. The upholstery and interior finish which are of the finest cloth, duplicate the most expensive living room furniture, with every facility for comfort. Fine silver fittings are matched in harmonious design. Side arm rests and folding center rests are provided in the rear seat. Smoking and vanity sets and cigar lighters are also standard equipment.

The front seat of the driver's compartment is adjustable over a four-inch range, and controls and equipment are the finest ever offered by Chrysler. The steering column is adjustable for three positions. On the instrument panel, grouped under individual dials are the speedometer, eight-day clock, electric fuel and oil gauge combined, ammeter, oil pressure gauge and engine temperature indicator. Spark control, carburetor choke and manifold heat control buttons are within easy reach. Theft lock ignition switch is near the steering column, and on the right hand side is an electric cigar lighter. The two windshield panels are ventilated independently by swinging outward and are controlled by chromium latches. Each is provided with an electric wiper. There are four cowl ventilators, two at the rear of the cowl, operated by hand, and one on each side, operated by the foot.

125 H. P. Engine
The engine of the Imperial eight is the "L" head type, developing 125 horsepower at 3200 R. P. M. Having a bore of 3 1/2 inches and a stroke of 5 inches, the displacement of this powerful engine is 384.844 cubic inches with an S. A. E. rating of 39.2 horsepower. It is by far the finest and most powerful engine ever designed by Chrysler engineers. Compression ratios are 5 to 1, with 6 to 1 optional equipment.

The counterweighted statically and dynamically balanced crankshaft is completely machined. Nine main bearings, having a total area of 112.31 square inches support this crankshaft. Aluminum alloy pistons of the Iso-therm invatrust type have four compression rings and one oil control ring. The engine is mounted in rubber with four point suspension, completely insulating vibrations from the frame and body. Two horns, one an instant sharp warning for city traffic, and the other a loud clear warning for the open road, are standard equipment. Both are operated by the same button. Complete engine accessories include fuel pump, oil filter, air cleaner, gasoline filter and crankcase ventilator. Lubrication is full force-feed to all bearings by means of a gear-type oil pump.

The four-speed transmission with multi-range gear shift is provided to give maximum results in performance. The final axle ratio of the highest or driving range is 3.818 to 1 for speed and economy, and the silent third of acceleration range has a ratio of 5.391 to 1. Shifting between these two gears can be made either way at any car speed to meet ever changing traffic conditions, smoothly and promptly.

Dual down-draft carburetion with specially designed manifold is used on every Imperial eight model. With this system, the flow of the fuel is downward to every cylinder. Gasoline is supplied to the carburetor by a fuel pump, and an acceleration pump on the carburetor provides for sudden acceleration under all operating conditions.

4 Wheel Brakes
Four-wheel internal-expanding hydraulic brakes, expanding in 15-inch reinforced drums, offer the most powerful brakes ever developed by Chrysler, since the braking area is 189.6 square inches. The parking or emergency brake, controlled by the hand lever, consists of an eight-inch drum at the rear of the transmission. Springs are the semi-elliptic type, with a total length of 97 3/4 inches on each side insuring maximum riding comfort. Spring leaves are all 2 1/2 inches wide. Springs are cradled in rubber bushings, and controlling their easy action are two-way hydraulic shock absorbers. Oversized balloon tires, six ply (7.00x18) are standard equipment. Wire wheels are used throughout as standard equipment, with wood wheels as optional.

All models of the Chrysler eight and Imperial eight are wired for the installation of radio equipment at the factory, the sets to be installed at the option of the owner on special order.

WALTER P. CHRYSLER PRESENTS TWO NEW STRAIGHT EIGHTS

All progress is change. Only by change do man and the factors of his civilization move from the lower to the higher state; from the cruder to the finer development.

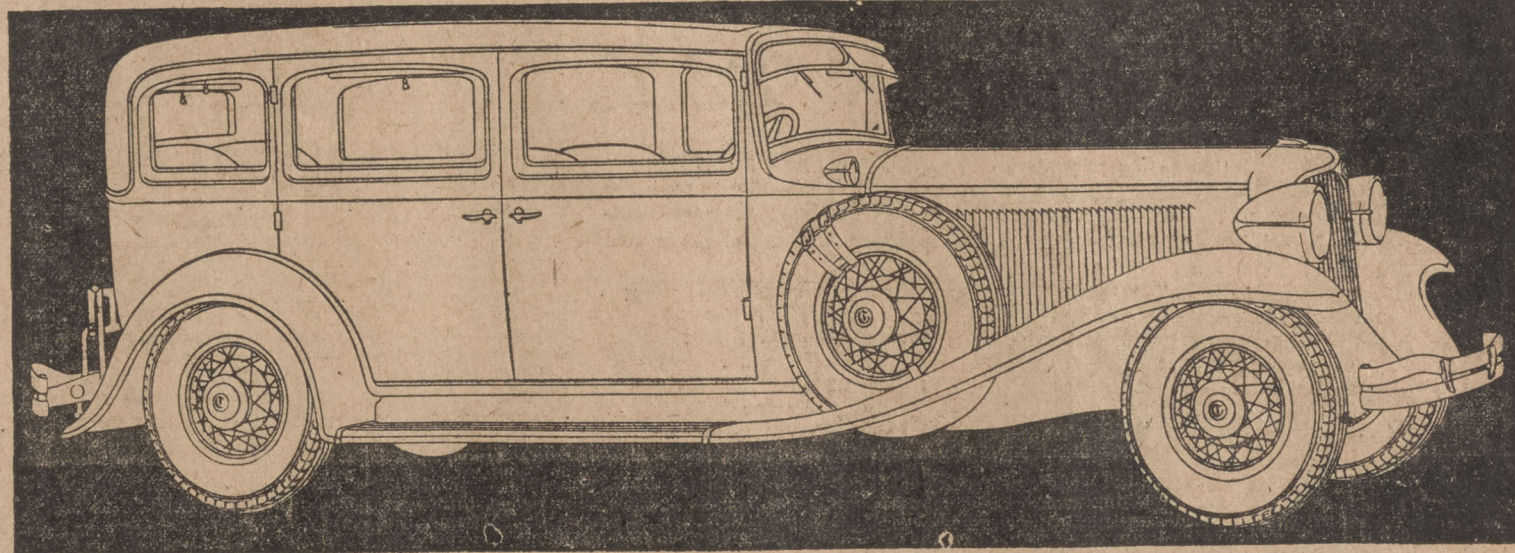

Our Chrysler engineers devote their lives to study, to analysis, to experimentation. And out of this constant searching and trying come the knowledge, conviction and decision that lead to progress.

In announcing two complete lines of New Straight Eights, in addition to our lower-priced Chrysler Sixes, we now register our most important change and progress—all designed, all worked for, all created to give the world better and more satisfying transportation.

In our progress there is no departure from fundamental principles. To maintain public approbation, we must give always finer, more dependable, more dynamic car performance—must offer always greater value, as well as cars better suited to the needs of modern transport.

Thus, our latest Chryslers—the new Chrysler Eight and the new Chrysler Imperial Eight—containing as they do, outstanding engineering and style improvements—are, we believe, milestones along the course of automobile progress.

We are proud and eager to submit these cars to the inspection and test of the public.

CITY RIVERFRONT

Sunshine and salty breeze,
And down the spreading bay
The little boats from brown-gray coasts
Eager to sail away.

Headlands against a blue
Of clouds, and through the mist
Straight towers that rear their pointed shafts
In silvered amethyst.

Venders of trifling wares,
Cold lips of those who rest
And watch the sturdy tugs that push
Curled foam against each breast.

Who guesses joy beneath a step
That loiters for a while?
Who knows the restlessness of pain
Beneath bravado's smile?

Sunshine and salty breeze,
And down the open bay
The snow-white sails of outbound ships
Eager to be away.

BEING HERSELF

MORE than for her vote, her latch-key, her pay envelope, the woman of to-day ought (at least, by intelligent masculine opinion) to go human. No longer is she pinnacled, no longer raised to that embarrassing, exasperating eminence, "a little lower than the angels." She is permitted to have moods, even tempers. She is expected to have ideas of her own, ambitions and desires not directly connected with any man. Like him, she may revolve in her own orbit, instead of existing merely as the satellite of a male sun. In brief, she can and does live up literally to the slang phrase, "Be Yourself!"

This paean to the personal liberty of the truly modern woman does not carry the implication that she is a coldly selfish and unloving creature, without passion and tenderness for mate and children. On the contrary, she knows how to love, how to work for those she loves, but she does both with an erect spine. She is always an individual, a woman—not a down-trodden woman. Of her no man can think complacently. "The sun rises and sets, for that little girl, with me!" The intelligent man, on the other hand, finds woman far more interesting now that she concedes to her a mind, a will, a life of her own. She can be a surprise since she is no longer a soft pillow.

"Why," a girl of to-day asked the immemorial question, "did you fall in love with me?" "For your get-out-of-the-rut-liveness," answered to-day's lover.

YOU may say that women always have been themselves, and this is, we suspect, the truth, but a truth which women have had to hide. For if you imagine that men of the past valued or even conceded spirit and individuality in women, you should look into the mind of such men when they were thinking frankly of the other sex. We've been taking such a look—the mind in question is that of Amiel, famous essayist and religious mystic of the middle of the last century. Van Wick Brooke has just translated a hitherto unpublished portion of Amiel's "Journal." The new book is called "Amiel's Effluvia" and is saturated with this intelligent man's general mental attitude toward women—his bland insolence, egotistical complacency, sheer sex fatality.

For, as Amiel many times points out, what all women are waiting for, that without which they cannot exist, is the love FOR a good man—or, rather, the love FOR a good man and the opportunity to love him. "The trouble that is really insupportable to a woman is an empty heart," he assures us, splendidly. "A woman needs to make happy the one she surrounds with her affection, to give herself, devote herself, to expend herself entirely in her tenderness and love. She would like to be broken like the bread of life and poured in consolation, hope and energy into the veins of the being whom she protects, and so long as she has not been able to satisfy this profound need of her nature she seeks, suffers and pines." No wonder, then, that the beneficiary for which woman exists as an elementary institution, "Oh, go to bed."

Oh, Go to Bed

By Eliot Kays Stone

"DAD, how do they know the world is round like a ball?"

"It looks flat."

"Well, son, for a great many centuries people did think the world was flat, simply because it looks that way. There are several things which prove the earth a globe, slightly flattened at the poles. In the first place, when you are on a ship on the ocean and you see another ship approaching you first see only the tops of the funnels and masts, and it is only gradually that the entire vessel comes into view. This proves that the surface of the ocean curves, for if it were a flat surface all of the ships would become visible at once. Then, in an eclipse, the earth throws a circular shadow upon the moon, and a circular shadow thrown only by a globe. But the best proof of the earth being a sphere is that many people have traveled around it."

"How do we know they haven't traveled around and come back to the edge of a plate?"

"Oh, go to bed."

A DISH A DAY

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

Much as we relish cold food in the summer, it is advisable to serve one hot dish at least at dinner. With a menu that includes jellied consommé and cold meat, two hot vegetables can be served, but if you prefer cold meats and a chilled vegetable salad, beginning the dinner with hot soup is the best plan.

Widespread demand for soups during hot weather is reflected in the bargain lists at chain and other grocery stores. Excellent canned soups are to be had, including clam chowder and chicken bouillon. There is no canned substitute, however, for the delicious cream soups which can be made of fresh vegetables. If there are children in your family, creamed new vegetable soups should play an important part in your summer menus. Serve them at luncheon and dinner, and take them along on picnics in a heat-retaining bottle.

NEW PEA SOUP

2 cups shelled fresh peas
2 cups boiling water
1 slice onion
1½ teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1½ tablespoon butter
2 tablespoons flour
1½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon white pepper
1 cup meat stock
1 cup rich milk (or evaporated milk)

Cook the peas in an open kettle in boiling water for about twenty minutes, or until tender. Add onion, sugar and salt and simmer for five minutes. Rub through coarse sieve and measure. Add enough hot water to make two and one-half cups. Melt the butter, stir in flour and add milk and meat stock in small amounts, stirring constantly. When the sauce has thickened, add the pea puree. Serve with croutons or toasted crackers.

neck the initials will show plainly in the front on a direct line with your chin.

These initials, then, can be repeated. They pop up everywhere on collars, on shirt pockets, on berets, on belts, on sleeves—everywhere but the top of the stocking—maybe there for all I know. They are done in two colors, usually red and blue, green and black and so on. The idea is that you choose one that you like tremendously and then have it repeated on everything so that it becomes characteristic of you.

Crystal Clip Monograms

Colored enamel monograms under crystal are just as smart as they can be. Arranged in a triangle and banded by a thin band of gold they are made so that they can slide over a handbag clasp or the edge of a beret or be used for the finish of a belt. This is another monogram idea—tres popular.

They have these clasps, too, in flat carved jade, lapis, turquoise—very good with other jewelry touches to match.

As, for instance, big button trimmings on white linen bags—on either side to hold the cord handle. These can be green or blue or any color that matches the other fixings. You see, you start out with an all white sports dress and then spot it in this way.

Another touch—two strings of beads graduated—these to carry out the sporting color. They hang in a longish line following a pointed necktie. Bracelets to match are solid galathea or Chinese composition or strings of beads set in stiff iridescent frames. Then there are gypsy coin bracelets alternating with white—very nice for sports clothes.

If you can stand so much jewelry front and colored buckles.

You see how everything ties together—color to white?

Linens hand made dresses are very smart just now and with these go linen berets finished by tiny perky bows of linen on the side or at the back.

Scarves are good when they are squares and these are virtually handkerchiefs in Elizabeth crepe of pastel colors or flat crepe with colored tie borders.

Polka dots are effective and right at the height of the fashion just now for scarves, for ascot ties, even for berets and bags and worn with white dresses or selected pastels, they make, when well arranged, an excellent accessory note.

New elegant cases in lacquered enamel have gorgeous modern designs to lighten up a summer accessory list. In blue, green and red and combinations of these with shining steel they have come down a bit from Cartier prices, but are still not too cheap—that is, not cheap enough to be entirely common.

New elegant cases in lacquered enamel have gorgeous modern designs to lighten up a summer accessory list. In blue, green and red and combinations of these with shining steel they have come down a bit from Cartier prices, but are still not too cheap—that is, not cheap enough to be entirely common.

Polka dots are effective and right at the height of the fashion just now for scarves, for ascot ties, even for berets and bags and worn with white dresses or selected pastels, they make, when well arranged, an excellent accessory note.

THINK IT OVER

By Alfalfa Smith

ANY people seem to get happy spells and then turn into a spell of melancholy and wonder why they have become that way.

There would be no mountains were it not for the valleys.

Let me suggest that you clip the following from William Morris and keep it handy for occasions when the worry bug begins to bite you.

"He who rises every time he falls will rise some time to stay."

The older I grow the more convinced I am that IMAGINATION will make a monkey out of you—if you let it.

The way to destroy an annoying imagination is to CHANGE YOUR MIND. Substitute thoughts of joy, fun, amusement and diversity for those of gloom.

Formal White With Brown

IT NEEDS only the suggestion for metropolitan fashion authorities to follow the lead of Paris, especially in the alliance of unusual colors. The white and brown evening ensemble stands out with prominence and the effect is lovely as well as being quite sophisticated.

Just as Parisian women have shown a marked affinity for the regal gown of white satin, so too, is the metropolitan fashionable inclining in this, wearing it with a wrap of brown velvet, long suede gloves in a charming shade of brown, and brown satin pumps.

The Beauty Shop

Can You Afford to Economize on Your Beauty?

CAN any woman afford to economize on her beauty? This department thinks not. Faces being what they are—constantly undergoing changes for better or for worse and invariably for worse when they are neglected. Having a face over, it must be born in mind that to each of us is given but one face.

With that gift of one face goes the responsibility of keeping it as beautiful as possible. And the penalty of shirking such a responsibility is loss of a husband's love, loss of the opportunity of ever having a husband's love, loss of a job sometimes, or of self-respect, which latter loss is the worst of all.

Why bring up the thought of economy here? Because at the moment everybody seems to be in the mood for economizing on everything. And while this may be necessary in the case of luxuries or in the case of the less necessary of the necessities, we think it simple folly when it comes to the upkeep of a face. Yes, even if you happen to be without a job.

If that sounds harsh, just think it over before concluding that it is harsh. Consider just how much of a chance a neglected face and hair and hands have of getting a job—not to mention holding one—these days. Better one hat less than no beauty preparations. Better the omission of one talkie from your life than the lack of a good cleansing cream or lotion. You can always make up for the table missed, you know.

Periods of depression don't last forever. Not in this buoyant land of ours, at any rate. But the marks of an ill cared for skin or a shabbily treated head of hair have a mean way of staying with one long after the depression spell is over.

There is no need ever to be extravagant in the matter of beauty preparations. Some of the finest creams and tonics and powders made to-day are to be had for a dollar and even less. If you have a young skin, and one that approaches the normal, all the more reason why you should not go in for high-priced beauty preparations—depression period or no depression period.

It is when one's looks begin definitely to "go" that high-priced treatments and the more expensive of the specialized preparations become necessary. To this column's way of thinking, a few times a year these times make such preparations and treatments more essential than ever. Especially for the woman wage earner.

Can you think of any single thing that gives you more self-confidence than the assurance that your skin, your hair and your hands are just right? So why economize on that?

When Traveling

You will not find the children a nerve racking nuisance in traveling if you keep them interested. In one of our shops they are selling brown voyage packages for children. These contain various articles, such as puzzles, books, small dolls, etc., to occupy their attention whether on train or boat.

TELLING THE WORLD

By Neal O'Hara

ALL YOU NEED TO KNOW

RULES for summer vacationists:

1. In the average summer hotel, a suite consists of a bedroom, bathroom and transom.

2. Even if you're a fast worker, don't think you can acquire a season's tan in one afternoon.

3. The best way to enjoy yourself is to bask in the sea breezes while you read of the folks sweating in a heat wave back home.

4. Even though you're a ribbon clerk fifty weeks in the year, worry about how Steel and General Electric opened every morning of the two weeks you're away.

5. A coil of hemp rope near your bedroom window is not only considered a fire escape, but it is one of the modern improvements mentioned in the hotel's booklet.

6. Just because you and three other tenors have just arrived at a resort, don't think the Maine State Song will be new to the rest of the folks there.

7. The best way to get sunburned is to lie three hours on the beach in a one-piece suit the first morning you arrive. For sunstroke add two hours to this.

8. If you have any complaints about the hotel food, service or accommodations you will confer a favor on the management by keeping it to yourself.

9. At most summer resorts the mosquitoes are big enough to be slapped with a tennis racket.

10. Just because wheat, corn and other commodities are away down this summer on the Government index and Roger Babson's charts, don't think this is a favorable season to become engaged.

11. You may as well make up your mind at the start that you can't keep your shoes clean for more than twenty-four hours. So get this point settled and then go ahead and enjoy yourself.

12. Don't try to do any one-arm driving in a roller coaster.

13. On picture postcards of the hotel where you are stopping always let X represent your commodious front room, even though you are staying in the backyard in a tent.

14. In any dispute about your hotel bill the guest is always wrong.

15. Don't walk past an automobile's exhaust while wearing white flannel pants.

16. The only sure preventive of sunburn is fourteen consecutive rainy days.

17. You may sing better than Rudy Vallee and swim better than Johnny Weissmuller, but nobody can possibly look as handsome as a life guard.

18. Don't think strumming on a ukulele at 11.30 P. M. will make

BUICK EIGHT IS TO BE SHOWN

The most sensational announcement in the history of the Buick Motor company is to occur on Saturday, July 26, when the 3000 dealers comprising the Buick retail organization in the United States will display the 1931 Buick line of eight cylinder automobiles, according to information supplied by H. E. Loomis, Pacific coast regional manager.

Although the Buick executive could not, at this time, release details and specifications of the new Buick eight which will be presented to the American motoring public during the next week, he declared that the new models will embody many vitally important advancements. These will include Buick eight cylinder motors providing a degree of performance far surpassing even the finest previous Buick creations, new and more luxurious higher-bill bodies and a host of mechanical innovations tested and developed at the General Motors proving grounds and laboratories.

The Buick regional chief executive pointed out that the heart of the 1931 Buick will be under the hood. The performance of this Buick eight under any type of driving conditions is said to excel by far any character of performance heretofore realized in the Buick price field.

"Buick has spent a number of years painstakingly developing the cars which will comprise our 1931 line and which are a worthy culmination of Buick's 27 years of fine car building," said Loomis. "Buick has placed the entire resources of its half billion dollar plant behind the 1931 Buick eight and with the announcement of these superior motor cars, we are confident the motoring public will continue to buy more than twice as many Buick as any other make of automobile in its price field."

During the next week, Buick dealers from the various cities in the Pacific Coast region will meet in their respective zone headquarters to obtain details concerning the new line and procure models for display and demonstration purposes next Saturday. Buick officials anticipate that all attendance records for visitors at a new Buick announcement will be broken with the introduction of the eight.

NAVAL TREATY BATTLE ON IN SENATE

WASHINGTON, July 19.—UP—Exhausted by terrific heat and long hours of debate, the Senate adjourned at 4:30 p. m. today until 11 a. m. Monday, with the prospect that the London naval treaty would be ratified next week.

The fight has settled down to a pure question of physical endurance on the part of the treaty's opponents. Mostly elderly men, they felt the intense heat. Today the sun blazed down again at about 100 degrees. Except for the refrigeration system in the Senate chamber which kept the temperature down to 78 degrees, it is doubtful if many of the Senators would have been able to continue their arduous fight.

By a new parliamentary move, Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire, a treaty opponent today compelled the supporters of the treaty to join with the opposition in taking up the Senate's time with the debate.

The strategy was simple. When the first article was read, Senators Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, and Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas, who hoped to negotiate it, were asked time and again to explain various phrases. When the second article was read questions again were put.

By agreement, the ratification for resolution will not be offered until the reading of the treaty has been completed.

Reservations came thick and fast as the burden of discussing the treaty was shifted. Senator Johnson, with a breathing spell after a fortnight of intermittent speeches, sat with his white shod feet on an adjacent chair and offered two. Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire, had one. Chairman Hale of the Naval Affairs committee, had two more.

Johnson would make ratification null and void if the United States joined the League of Nations or the World Court. His second reservation would reserve American rights under the escalator clause. Moses' reservations also were for this latter purpose. Hale's reservations would restore the 5-5-3 ratio with Japan after the treaty expires, and stipulated the division of cruisers into two classes would end with the treaty.

The burden of the fight is still chiefly on the shoulders of Johnson. Though 64 years old, he is fighting with all the vigor he showed in the League of Nations fight a decade ago. His fists swing emphatically as he speaks. He drops all padded words from his vocabulary and hurls out hard barbed phrases, undaunted by the certain defeat which hangs over

Bandits Fire On Machine

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—Two bandits made an unsuccessful attempt early yesterday morning to halt Mitchell Clupfell and Zal Zacharys as they were driving along Skyline boulevard.

When Clupfell refused to stop, the bandits fired two shots. One bullet struck the windshield, shattering it.

His head. He thinks this is a bad treaty and says so. He adds bluntly that many of his colleagues haven't the intelligence to understand or to vote upon the pact and are not fit to sit in the senate. He glowers and scowls and marches around his desk inviting the soft voiced Smoot or any other to rise and argue with him on any point whatever and few arise.
